Theatre Fire Ruins Menace Is Removed By Safety Department

NO NEW LIGHT ON FIRE CAUSE

Hundreds Of Spectators Watch Work Of Razing Old Walls

Side and rear walls of the Capitol theatre fire ruins which remained a menace after the building had been gutted by flames Sunday night have been razed. Debris will be removed as soon as possible. The theatre will not be rebuilt.

Removal of three rear walls was ordered yesterday by Fire Chief Charles Lynn. Employees of the Bell Telephone company hitched a cable around one wall and a charge of dynamite exploded as a truck pulled the cable. Walter and C. E. Miller fired the "shots".

One wall tumbled and the method was repeated on another wall following which the wall along Apple way collapsed, its supporting walls having been already tumbled. The Miller brothers razed a chimney which was considered a menace.

Safety Work Completed
D. O. Davies, director of safety for the city, said today that the city's share of the work has been completed and the menace to the traveling public has been removed. The fire chief, Charles Lynn was on the scene yesterday and today.

The theatre was so badly gutted by the fire on Sunday night, that nothing was left standing but the outer walls. Part of the north wall collapsed during the fire, but other parts of this wall were left standing. They were in such condition that immediate safety measures were taken and they were leveled yesterday.

Hundreds of spectators stood around the fire ruins all day yesterday and watched the work. Safety lines were drawn around the site (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

There is an old saying that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread" and it was not necessarily written by a wise man. Quite a number of people who could be classed in the first category were observed yesterday afternoon at the scene of the big fire at the Capitol theatre where workmen were engaged in tearing down the walls. They pressed in as close as possible, almost beneath the walls which were being pulled down. Others hung underneath a part of the wall, which had fallen in, with wooden bricks ready to drop on their heads any moment. Miraculously, none was injured, and later in the afternoon, several members of the police force appeared on the scene and swept the crowds back out of danger.

One salesman who drives continually over Pennsylvania highways told Pa New yesterday that never in his driving experiences has he seen a winter so free of annoying weather. There has been very little of Old King Winter's nastiness to make much trouble this season.

When illness hits the post office force, it just means a lot of work has to be doubled up. Such was the case yesterday and today it was about the same.

It was a mighty good thing that Monday's wind came when it did and not while the Capitol theatre burned. The wind would have blown (Continued On Page Two)

Ruins Of Ancient City Unearthed In Arizona

(International News Service)
TUCSON, Ariz., Mar. 1.—Ruins of an ancient city, inhabited more than 1,200 years ago and believed to have reached the zenith of its power at the time Left Erisson sailed out of Norse seas for America, have been unearthed 15 miles south of Tucson by a party of archaeologists headed by Dr. Byron Cummings, dean of archaeology, University of Arizona, he announced today.

The Pueblo, which housed several thousand persons, is of the "compound" type, apartments interlocking with each other. Some of the "Compounds" were capable of caring for several score families.

The remains of a time-decayed fort were found on a hill nearby, overlooking historic San Xavier Mission. Military strategists said that it would be impossible for men on foot to capture the buttress.

Pottery discovered, Dr. Cummings said, showed a high degree of civilization, one comparable to the Casa Grande ruins in Arizona or to Pueblo Bonito in New Mexico. The walls of the buildings, some of which were more than one story in height, were built of boulders held in place by caliche, a natural cement.

The mystery of why the city was abandoned puzzled its discoverers. Flood waters or lava pouring from a nearby volcanic hill may have forced the Indians to flee, Dr. Cummings said.

The ruins, located on the San Xavier Indian reservation, have been tramped over for centuries by Papago Indians who little realized that underneath was a city eclipsing in size their present-day towns.

Naval Patrols Aid Honolulu Police In Combing City For Suspects

HONOLULU, T. H., Mar. 1.—The underworld dragnet in operation again following the attack by a native on Mrs. Kathleen Hope, pretty and crippled wife of a United States Navy machinist's mate, today had netted some results.

Of 12 suspicious characters arrested two were held as suspects. They were Orientals.

City Is Combed
Naval patrols aided police in combing the city in search of the man who robbed and attacked Mrs. Hope while her husband, John Hope, was enroute to San Pedro, Cal., on the submarine S-23.

As the attacker was masked, and dropped his mask only for a moment, Mrs. Hope gave police only an inadequate description, one, police said, which would fit thousands of natives in Honolulu and which made them skeptical that the real assailant ever would be captured.

Woman Recovering
Police Chief Weeber said "we may get the guilty man through a process of elimination."

Mrs. Hope was recovering from the shock of the attack and had moved into the home next door of Mrs. R. D. Curry, wife of a naval electrician whose home also was entered by the intruder. Mrs. Curry, however, was not attacked.

SHANGHAI, Mar. 1.—Peace negotiations between Japanese and Chinese officials, with neutral power representatives looking on anxiously, continued today to the accompaniment of terrific gunfire and aerial bombardment of Chinese positions.

Both sides appeared pessimistic, although neither commented on the terms being considered, and foreigners realized that the fighting was much more real, at present, than the peace parleys.

The Chinese through Finance Minister T. V. Soong, denied an armistice had been agreed upon. The Japanese, he said, are not agreeable to the terms to which the Chinese are willing to accede.

Japanese Minister to China Ma-moru Shigemitsu declared the peace negotiations were private and indirect, stating that no decision had been reached. He awaited further orders from Tokyo.

FEBRUARY RAINFALL IS BELOW AVERAGE

Weather Shows Change In Month

Temperature Continues To Be Much Higher Than Normal Here

LOWEST MARK OF YEAR 14 ABOVE

After weeping copiously for several months, during which a great excess of precipitation was piled up, the skies suddenly dried up in February, and the month proved to be an abnormally dry one. Only 1.20 inches of rain fell during the entire month which was 1.21 inches below normal.

The temperature on the other hand, was above the normal mark, a daily excess of 5.8 degrees being noted. In 1931, the temperature during February showed a daily excess of 2.6 degrees.

The weather statistics as compiled by U. S. Weather Observer B. F. Johnson, follow:

Mean maximum temperature, 43.5 degrees; mean minimum temperature, 25.1 degrees, mean average 34.3 degrees. Normal average, 28.5 degrees. Maximum temperature, 73 on February 12; lowest, 14 on February 1. Greatest daily range, 41 degrees on February 11.

Precipitation, 1.20 inches. Rainfall during February of 1931, 2.23 inches. Greatest precipitation in 24 hours, 2.3 on February 12. Total snowfall 3.5 inches, snowfall in February 1931, 8.2 inches.

There were 15 days on which the precipitation was .01 inches or more; days clear, four; days partly cloudy, 13; days foggy, 12.

The fact that there was an extra day in February this year had little effect on the averages, on March 1 last year, which would correspond to February 29, the temperature rose to 61 degrees, higher than it was Monday. It rained a year ago, however, whereas it was dry yesterday.

Incidentally, it might be remarked that the low temperature of 14 degrees, was the lowest of the winter. The low mark during 1931 was 5 degrees, which was recorded on January 19.

sovereignty of China and demanded that China fully protect international interests in Shanghai and safeguard the international settlement.

While accepting the truce proposal as the only solution to the crisis available at present, Japan continues to ask the league council to exert all possible pressure upon China to withdraw her troops the stipulated 20 kilometers (12.4 miles) from Shanghai as a necessary forerunner to restoration of permanent peace.

The Japanese government, faced with the necessity of ending the conflict at Shanghai shortly because of serious economic depression and the mounting force of world opinion, cabled the plan to Sato for presentation to M. Paul-Boncour.

It was sent after preliminary conversations between Japanese and Chinese representatives abroad the British flag ship in the Whangpoo river at Shanghai which revealed a decided inclination by both parties to bring a rapid end to the conflict.

The simple proposal for an armistice conference does not run counter to traditional Japanese policy as it does not call for withdrawal of Japanese troops for the meantime. League observers are hopeful that the conference itself will have the desired effect in separating the two combatant armies a safe distance apart and that the long-smouldering difficulties between Japan and China can be successfully overcome when peace has at least temporarily been restored.

the flames into adjoining buildings and brought about a menace for firemen.

Some wonder why men can play chess or checkers for hours, but the men at the Y. M. C. A. can tell you. There's no greater enjoyment to be found than to congregate a group of players—and most of them are experts—around the lobby tables. It's a thrill to watch if you know the games.

Sidewalk talk would indicate that Billy Sunday will have an immense audience when he appears at the Cathedral on Wednesday night. The lively evangelist is speaking against doctors' orders.

March, unlike February, doesn't have so many holidays. In fact, the calendar shows none. And, by the way, its bow today didn't resemble either a lion or a lamb to any great extent.

The work of dismantling the remains of the Capitol theater attracted the attention of thousands of people Monday afternoon. The standing walls which were a menace were torn down.

Sunday night's fire at the Capitol theater was the first big fire that Fire Chief Lynn has missed, since they started having big fires around New Castle. Chief Lynn, who has been ill, had retired for the evening, and had his fire going disconnected. He heard the sixth ward department go out, but did not know that it was a big fire they were going to until Monday morning. Then he couldn't resist getting back on the job, and he has been working since then.

There were 15 days on which the precipitation was .01 inches or more; days clear, four; days partly cloudy, 13; days foggy, 12.

ing dead on the steps. Everywhere bombs were dropping and machine guns rattling.

"The evening before I left I was caught in a barrage and had to run for my life. The shots rattled on the streets at my heels. I was lucky. I saw only three actual killers. Two houses in the block where I lived were burned to the ground. Those who stay in Shanghai are crazy. The Japanese do not try to shoot foreigners, but they are shooting all around them and it is only luck that has saved American and English citizens. No matter what anyone says, everyone in Shanghai is in terrible danger."

Another "refugee" on the same ship was Mrs. Pat McGrady, former University of Washington co-ed, who was "forcibly shipped" to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson, at Hood Canal, Wash., by her husband, a reporter on the China Press.

Mrs. McGrady still had her curfew pass, without which "you can't stick your nose out of doors in Shanghai between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m."

Stack Up the Dead.

"There's a jail penalty for disobeying," she said. "And you can bet your life none disobeys. Not with shells falling in your front yard and shot rattling against your windows. The whole sky is red with flames at night, and the Japanese just stack up dead Chinese like sardines."

First they stop and search the Chinese, but even the dogs find any gun, they kill them just as the same. I've seen dozens of Chinese killed. And the Japanese civilians are just as dangerous as the soldiers. They won't even let the fire department through the streets to put out fires."

and police remained on the job while the work was in progress.

No New Developments

Asked if the theater would be rebuilt, J. F. Genkinger, owner, said no. He declared the debris would be cleared and the site used for some other purpose.

There have been no further developments that would give any light upon the possible cause of the fire, and it is probable that the real origin will never be known. The building was too thoroughly gutted to allow of much investigation. There was a tremendous upheaval of water, but it did not damage the ship.

"Secret information had reached me several days ago through the Japanese naval intelligence section," the admiral went on. "That these attempts were being planned by the Chinese, but of course we were unaware of the time—we only knew we must be on the watch."

Anchored Upstream.

"Both mines were anchored upstream from the sterns of both the Oda and Idzuma, and I believe that their time fuses were set so they would explode shortly after noon today when the ebb-tide would be flowing out, swinging the mines on their anchors closer towards the sterns of the destined victims."

And that, boys and girls, seems to be the last official statement, although John Goette (International News Service staff correspondent) tells me that Mayor Wu of Shanghai, has said the Chinese have no official knowledge of the incident beyond the reports of witnesses.

Karl H. von Wiegand (Universal Service correspondent) probably was the closest American witness to the explosion of the mine near the Idzuma. He was having luncheon in the German consulate at the time about a hundred yards distant from the flagship.

"This is Von Glegand's story: 'I was lunching with the German consul general in the German consulate a hundred feet from the Idzuma when the building suddenly rocked as if in a big earthquake. 'We ran out of the building and on the side of the Idzuma saw a big black spot on the water. 'There was great excitement aboard ship. They appeared to be loading guns and at the same time running up signal flags. My first impression was that a powder magazine had blown up on the other side of the river.'"

It was a mighty lucky escape for both the Idzuma and the Oda, but that isn't worrying me half as much as the terrible thought that downstream a mile and a half from these mines were anchored, one of Uncle Sam's greatest battle cruisers, the Admiral Montgomerie Taylor's flagship of the Asiatic squadron.

Terrible Possibilities.

Gosh, suppose either one of these mines had broken loose from their submarine moorings and had floated down river with this afternoon's tide in the direction of the Houston—or, for that matter, in the direction of half a dozen American destroyers and mine sweepers, not to mention any number of commercial craft, including the outcome President Polk, round-the-world liner, loaded down with American tourists.

I hate to think of such possibilities.

And listen, Jimmy, I happen to remember that little yarn I spun for you about two weeks ago—let me see, it was on the 15th of last month, the 34th anniversary of the blowing up of the Maine in Havana harbor. Look back in your clippings, Jimmy, and see if you can find that story. I don't want to scare you, but gosh, it certainly scared me at noon today.

And right this blessed minute I am asking every Chinese official I can get in contact with whether there are any more of those mines in that river right now.

I know it's just as easy to plant or float down a dozen more as it was the two that went off two hours ago. We don't want any Maine incident on the Whangpoo.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Mar. 1.—At the end of the year's basketball season, C. O. Benson, head coach at Thiel College for the past three years and football coach last fall, will leave the local school, it was determined today.

Following up its recent decision to insure absolute amateurism in sports, the executive board of the college last night adopted a resolution supporting the board of trustees in abolishing the post of assistant athletic director, which Benson held.

No action was taken toward naming a successor for Benson but indications were Jack Stoerber, athletic director, will be head coach with Labe Wardle, cage star, as a probable assistant.

MORE TROOPS ARE LANDED BY JAPAN

Japanese were seen to be using small boats to transport the troops and supplies ashore.

The landing was accomplished guard of naval guns and several squadrons of heavy bombing planes.

Luho is located 25 miles to the northwest of Shanghai, with which it is connected by an excellent motor road. If the Japanese forces are able to consolidate positions occupied by their landing forces this morning at Luho they bring a new threat of pressure almost in the rear of the Chinese army, and will increase the menace on the American lines at the north boundary of the International settlement if the Japanese pressure forces the Chinese to retreat in that direction.

Changes Status

The landing of these forces at Luho changes the entire status of the fighting around Shanghai. Luho is far beyond the defenses of the International settlement—it is even many miles beyond the reach of the 20 kilometer radius from which the Japanese demanded the Chinese to withdraw.

Japanese hostilities for the past month, based on military forces landed in the International settlement, have been insistently described by the Japanese as measures necessary for the defense of Japanese property and nationals in the International settlement.

For these reasons Japan declared her military operations did not constitute war on China, but this morning's landing at Luho on the upper Yangtze river is an entirely different thing.

In the absence of any defensive claim by the Japanese, this attack from the new direction will be represented by the Chinese as being clearly an invasion of Chinese territory, a violation of China's territorial sovereignty and consequently a repudiation by Japan of the Kellogg pact.

Karl H. von Wiegand (Universal Service correspondent) probably was the closest American witness to the explosion of the mine near the Idzuma. He was having luncheon in the German consulate at the time about a hundred yards distant from the flagship.

"This is Von Glegand's story: 'I was lunching with the German consul general in the German consulate a hundred feet from the Idzuma when the building suddenly rocked as if in a big earthquake. 'We ran out of the building and on the side of the Idzuma saw a big black spot on the water. 'There was great excitement aboard ship. They appeared to be loading guns and at the same time running up signal flags. My first impression was that a powder magazine had blown up on the other side of the river.'"

It was a mighty lucky escape for both the Idzuma and the Oda, but that isn't worrying me half as much as the terrible thought that downstream a mile and a half from these mines were anchored, one of Uncle Sam's greatest battle cruisers, the Admiral Montgomerie Taylor's flagship of the Asiatic squadron.

Terrible Possibilities.

Gosh, suppose either one of these mines had broken loose from their submarine moorings and had floated down river with this afternoon's tide in the direction of the Houston—or, for that matter, in the direction of half a dozen American destroyers and mine sweepers, not to mention any number of commercial craft, including the outcome President Polk, round-the-world liner, loaded down with American tourists.

I hate to think of such possibilities.

And listen, Jimmy, I happen to remember that little yarn I spun for you about two weeks ago—let me see, it was on the 15th of last month, the 34th anniversary of the blowing up of the Maine in Havana harbor. Look back in your clippings, Jimmy, and see if you can find that story. I don't want to scare you, but gosh, it certainly scared me at noon today.

And right this blessed minute I am asking every Chinese official I can get in contact with whether there are any more of those mines in that river right now.

I know it's just as easy to plant or float down a dozen more as it was the two that went off two hours ago. We don't want any Maine incident on the Whangpoo.

China independent of the national-ist regime at Nanking and Lovant, was established during the height of civil war strife in China several years ago. Numerous efforts have been made to amalgamate the Cantonese and nationalist factions, and temporary success was achieved last fall when Eugene Chen one of the Cantonese leaders, accepted the post of foreign minister in the reorganized nationalist government after the resignation of President Chiang Kai-Shek. Efforts to bring about complete union between the two factions, however, have been unavailing.

LONDON, Mar. 1.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokyo today said that the Japanese government had accepted the League of Nations council proposal for an armistice conference at Shanghai and had instructed its delegate at Geneva to act accordingly.

The Exchange Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent, however, reported that negotiations there apparently had struck a snag.

CLUB WOMEN HEAR TALK ON HOMES

"The woman in the home must keep in mind the things that are changing, but hold fast to the unchangeable principles of the home" said Mrs. W. Riley Alter, Woman's club member of New Kensington, as she addressed the members of the Woman's club Monday afternoon in Highland church.

Mrs. A. B. Street presided at the business meeting which preceded the program and the women were ushered to their seats by Mrs. R. K. Aiken and Mrs. John Elder.

Many matters were taken up in the business meeting, including a motion to the effect that the dues be reduced during the time of economic depression; an acceptance of an invitation by the Art club to attend a meeting in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon, and an announcement that the Southwestern district conference of the State Federation of Woman's clubs would be held March 16 in the Twentieth Century Building, Pittsburgh, to which many members are planning to go.

A committee, Mrs. A. B. Vogan, Mrs. John Haven, and Mrs. N. L. Gardner, was appointed to write resolutions on the death of one of the club members, Mrs. R. L. Wallace.

Mrs. H. B. Richards, chairman of the Home department, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. W. Riley Alter, chairman of literature of the southwestern district, whose subject was "The American Home."

In greeting the members Mrs. Alter said it was like "carrying coals to New Castle" to be asked to speak to this group, nevertheless, she felt she was honored in being invited to talk to them.

In speaking on her subject, Mrs. Alter stated that the most important factor of today is the great change that has come into it and the everlasting changes which are being made. The styles of the home, that is the architecture of the home changes every few years, and with it there is a change in furniture, decorations, conveniences and all that goes to make up the material part of the home.

Underlying principles of home life that do not change, and under these she listed, the spirit of truth, stability, substantial honesty, friendship, kindness, obedience, neighborliness, gentle voice and friendly manner.

Mrs. Alter's talk sparked with good humor throughout and she impressed upon the women the importance of teaching children the spirit of patriotism, which is so fitting this year, and reverence for older persons, people in authority and religion and the sacred things in life.

In addition to Mrs. Alter's talk the women were briefly addressed by Miss Faustine Dennis of Washington, D. C., vice president of the Third Corps Area of the Women's Overseas Service league, who asked them to write their senator to endorse a bill to come up, which provided aid for those women who lost their health in serving in overseas work during the world war.

ELIMINATE UNFIT BUILDINGS

CIVIC improvement and fire prevention often go hand in hand. Aged and dilapidated buildings, such as can be seen in most centers of population, are detrimental to property values and retard new construction—and they are, as well, breeders of conflagrations.

A number of cities are making efforts to do away with these eyesores. Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, has made conspicuous progress in this direction. During 1931 more than 100 broken-down buildings were removed. One block of 24 structures was cleared up, eliminating, among other fire hazards, 107 stovepipes which were carried through holes in unprotected lath and plaster! New York, Cleveland, Los Angeles and Chicago are among the larger cities which have rehabilitated and improved dangerous sections.

The benefits to the community from such action are obvious. The way is opened for the construction of new buildings, or for the development of parks. Property values rise in the surrounding territory, with resulting higher tax return to the city treasury. But, perhaps of greatest importance, the chance of fire has been lessened.

All individuals and civic organizations should support movements designed to eliminate unfit buildings. It is easier and cheaper to prevent a fire than to try to put one out after it has started. And, if there were no question of property losses involved, the potential saving of life that results from a determined civic improvement campaign would alone make the work more than worth while.

ENOUGH SPEED

"I know that my family wants me to stop," says Sir Malcolm Campbell, "but when you consider that I am almost certain of success, it would be foolish to quit now."

That was the speedy Englishman's comment after he had driven his racing machine at the average of 253.968 miles per hour over the Daytona Beach track. The "success" of which he felt so certain was the attainment of an average speed of 260 miles an hour. If he makes that, and lives, success may require next a speed of 265 miles. Who will set the limit?

There are different ideas of success. If one is a racer, success must lie in going faster than anyone else in the same type of vehicle. Racing automobiles, however, seem long since to have passed all reasonable limits of either usefulness or pleasure. For the brief time that a super-race machine is in motion, there is not much for spectators to see. When the car has come to a stop, there is no particular gain for anybody. Always there is the terrible risk to human life, that of the daring driver and also the lives of watchers.

SHREWD STOCK MARKETING

There is a good investment lesson in what a lot of thrifty corporations are doing. They are using surplus funds to buy in their own outstanding stock at current market prices. This is just as sensible as the procedure of the shrewd housewife picking up bargains in meat, groceries, drygoods and children's shoes. Indeed it is more effective, because stocks are down far lower, compared with their boom prices, than are the necessities of life.

Impressive examples are General Motors, which has lately taken out of the market 100,000 shares of its stock; a motor company which has bought and retired 150,000 shares of its common stock; and an artificial silk company which has reduced its outstanding stock from 200,000 shares to 145,000. Scores of companies are doing the same thing.

The effect is to raise the value of their outstanding securities, and also to help the stock situation generally. There was so much stock issued in the prosperous years that it is as much of a blessing to wipe out a lot of stock certificates as it is to withdraw wheat from the market. With the supply of securities diminishing, they will be more highly esteemed again. The general public may reason that when corporations are buying back their own stock on the market, it is probably a good investment at current prices, for other people.

TAXES AND POLITICS

Tax experts are practically unanimous in the opinion that the federal budget must be balanced if the national credit is to be sustained, and the balancing cannot be accomplished without broadening the basis of taxation. Incomes alone cannot stand the strain at a time of general income depreciation.

The nub of the question is how wide the new base shall be. This is the point upon which the treasury and congress cannot agree, and upon which there must be agreement before anything can be accomplished. The treasury would spread the burden by further boosts in corporate and individual income taxes, increased tax on stock transfers, a federal gasoline tax, and special sales taxes on automobiles and radios.

The house ways and means committee, which in tax matters disposes while the treasury proposes, talks of sales taxes, higher taxes on large incomes, and electricity and gas levies.

Nobody wants to be taxed, much less be taxed more than the other fellow. But the wider the spread of the plan eventually evolved and adopted the greater will be the number of objects, which is encouragement for congress to place the burden upon the least possible number with the greatest capacity for paying. Congress favors levies that will alienate the least number of voters. The treasury is looking for new sources of revenue involving the least labor in collecting. It is not an easy nut to crack if all interests are to be served.

Nothing else increases the value of affection like being alienated.

Who remembers, back in his boyhood, when the height of daring was to walk under a horse?

Chanticleer thought his crowing made the sun rise, and a Texas congressman thinks he chased Mellon out of the treasury.

Japan claims she is in China to get back her boycott-lost business. Well a flotilla of battleships can deliver a hot sales talk.

Politics is feeling the depression. Only $100 is being offered for vote-getting slogans for the next campaign.

Why Be Bored?
How Can You Be Bored?
In This World, at This Time?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

The young man was bored . . . So bored . . . So weary of this world and its ideas and its dreams and the people around him . . . He drooped . . . He was so bored.

How do I know? Well, I saw him, didn't I? I saw him doing his stuff. He might have been pretending? Well, perhaps he was. Some young fellows are good at that sort of thing. Their act is to be intensely interested inside, but vague and indifferent and bored outside.

But not this young fellow, I'm sure. I watched him closely for fifteen minutes and he didn't show a sign of life. He wasn't a window dummy. I know, because I saw him flick the ash negligently away. I saw him look at a pretty girl who passed and check her over carefully from her silk stockings to her pert little hat and dismiss her forever from his princely consideration.

He looked at me, too, and adjusted his necktie precisely . . . and forgot all about me. But, of course, I hadn't expected him to see me. He was in his early twenties, and I'm in my early-late thirties; so to him—that exquisite, idling, bored young man—I'm just a gray-bearded ancient, tottering to the grave. He knew all about me and was wasting no time . . . I understand, so you must understand.

But how did he get that Way, that's what I don't understand. Why should any young man be bored in this exciting century? Or any young woman? Or any old man? Or any old woman?

There's life, there's blood coursing through the body, there's breathing, there's energy, there's fatigue, there's so much that's going on. The earth's rolling through space, and the sun's coming up and the sun's going down. And rain is falling, and there's the joy, there's the dew on the grass and birds hop from twig to twig and a dog wags his tail and a rooster makes a great how-de-do!

And a baby's born and a mother weeps for joy and a young father feels terribly solemn and glad. There's grief and there's joy, there's agony, there's pity, there's ugliness and beauty and struggle and glamour, and there's that mysterious human spirit of which we talk so much and know so little.

And right in the heart of all this is that bored young man who has been everywhere and seen everything and thinks he has drunk life to the last insipid, like-warm drop. Here, in this year, in this country, in this most exciting period of the world's history—he is bored. In all this excitement, this change, this struggle, this suffering, this movement of civilization, he thinks there's nothing for a fellow to do. He could be exultant, he could despair, he could grieve his heart out, he could set his chin and join the stalwart battalion of men and women who are fighting to set things right again.

But no! He's weary, he's indifferent, he's bored! And for the puzzled life of me, I can't understand him—can you?

UNDOING A COLLEGE EDUCATION

One time there was a college boy, an honor student, too.

Who thought he ought to show the folks at home how much he knew.

With scorn for this and scorn for that, he filled his father's ear. For having gathered knowledge he had also learned to sneer.

The youngster went about the town with a most superior air.

He couldn't stand the manners of the old friends living there.

He hated this and hated that; with a frown upon his face.

He called the neighbors vulgar and their notions commonplace.

One evening as they sat alone his troubled father said:

"I sent you down to college to gain wisdom, but instead

Unto my sorrow and dismay I find on your return

You've merely picked up tricks of pride which any boor can learn.

"You needn't go to college to discover things to hate.

To sneer at human failings is an art not very great.

The faults of other people even ignore take this tip from father—any fool can be unkind.

BRAVE BALDY

The tourist was being shown some famous old caves. "Yes, sir," said the guide, with an air of mystery. "I could tell you stories about these caves that would raise the very hair on your head."

The tourist laughed. "I don't believe it," he said.

The guide looked a trifle crestfallen. "Then perhaps you are very brave?" he suggested.

"Not at all," replied the other, "I'm very bald."

I know from experience that the fact that a town was booming and its inhabitants selling one another real estate on option and talking of fortunes to be made without effort meant but one thing to me: It meant that a bubble was getting ready to break. If you have ever seen an old boom town, with decrepit three-story brick buildings hidden in second-growth pine or sunflowers two miles from what remains of the business section, high-pressure salesmen can't get you very much excited. And if you have lived through a few panic years and seen clearing house certificates serving as money and then watched the inevitable return of the pendulum and the bustle of industry trying to make up for lost time, no calamity howler can make you believe hard times are permanent. I remember the hard times when Bryan was offering free silver as a remedy, and the panic of 1907, and the lesser calamities in 1914 and 1921, and it seems to me now that each period of depression was just a tightening of the belt to make ready for a rush of unprecedented prosperity.

THE RESULT OF A FRIENDLY CALL

One day last week a father and son were on their way to the Pymatung Swamp and stopped, in Greenville to call on our good friend John L. Morrison, owner of that autocratic journal known as the Greenville Record-Argus. John writes a column in it and it is called "Be That As It May." Here is what he said about us:

FRED L. RENTZ and Jake Rantz, super-publishers and residents of New Castle gladdened our sanctum yesterday on their way to the Pymatung dam. Fred L. electrified our attention by the most gorgeous overcoat it has been our pleasure to see for many a day, or ever and a day. It was made of Manchurian dog fur—yes, dogs have fur in Manchuria—and in color is between wolf grey and startled fawn.

(Aside: When Fred dons his coat he, automatically, "puts on the doc.")

After discussing the Elizabethan poets and deep subjects, exclusive of New Castle, we parted, a good time having been had by all. It was a distant pleasure to note that our recent publication of Hale Sipes' dissertation on Gosh-Gosh, the original name of New Castle, had not been seen by the publisher.

The visiting firemen were on their way to the justly-celebrated Pymatung dam, of which Fred L. Rantz was one of the prime movers and a member of the executive committee which was so instrumental in carrying on the enterprise from beginning to the successful end.

There ought to be more people wearing Manchurian dog overcoats. Rantz has headed two immensely successful drivers for his home town, the hospital drive netting $67,000. The committee sang the doxology, elected Rantz chairman of a new drive and it was successful beyond belief, too.

Economy In Bureaus Viewed As Possibility For Future

Public Believes, However, That Hoover Recommendation And Proposal By Democrats Are Likely To Meet Various Obstacles When Considered In Detail

Reorganization of the department and bureaus of the Federal Government, as proposed by President Hoover and the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, are believed to offer opportunities in the direction of seeking economy and increased efficiency. Efforts of other executives to accomplish similar results are recalled and it is pointed out that most of the existing agencies have earnest friends, but a basis for future action is recognized.

"The time is ripe for some good sized reforms," thinks the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL, "and it seems reasonable to hope that many millions of dollars may be 'loped off.' The ALTOONA MIRROR advises that the Federal Government should set a good example in economical administration to the States and the county and municipal governments." The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL feels that "the need of consolidations is apparent" and that the proposals "should awaken new interest in governmental economy" but points out that "some details of the President's plan may not meet with Congress' approval."

"The government must be conducted with the same sedulous attention to retrenchments and efficiencies," according to the PASADENA STAR-NEWS, "that appertain to the successful operation of a private business enterprise or a private industry." Quoting Shakespeare's thought that "there is some soul of goodness in things evil" the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS remarks as to the development of the various branches of the service that "before we know it we have what the late Vice President, Marshall said was not a bureau, but an entire suite, and one with 'overstuffed' furniture." The News concludes: "Probably it would be rash to turn loose among our bureaus a crew of men equipped with axes. It might be wiser to follow the Shakespearean method, and 'observing' distill out that evil 'soul of goodness.'"

"The huge deficit which the Treasury faces," in the opinion of the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, "is sufficient argument that reorganization ought to be effected wherever possible. When two principal branches of the Government agree that it is necessary for the sake of economy, if for no other reason, it is time to act. Squabbling over acquisition of credit under such circumstances is childish."

It is remembered by the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS that "other Presidents have sought similar reforms in the past and without success." It concedes, however, that "times have changed, just recently, and the prospect for sweeping reforms appears better than ever before." The UNIONTOWN MORNING HERALD is convinced that "there can be no disputing the justice of his proposals." The OAKLAND TRIBUNE warns that "the directing task calls for a man of force," and that "while there has been widespread support of the wide theory of governmental reorganization, there will be protests from friends of the agencies which would be abandoned or curtailed." The MIAMI DAILY NEWS states that "insofar as there is economy and not politics in the President's proposals, he ought to succeed."

The President's message appeals to the MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS as one with "contingent points that deserve attention," but that paper adds: "So far as economy is concerned, and this is the thing that is featured most in the message, we doubt whether a great deal is to be expected." The NASHVILLE BANNER observes: "Certainly the cost of Federal administration is enormous and every instance the people of the United States are suffering more from local expenditures."

"The State of New York, a few years ago," according to the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "effected a consolidation of its executive services on much the same principles that the President proposes for the Federal Government. No one questions that the new organization is more logical and more defensible on paper. Nevertheless, it has not reduced state expenditures. If any claim for economy can be made for it, the contention must rest on a supposition that the growth of expenditures has not proceeded quite so rapidly as before."

Considering the relative merits of the Hoover plan and the proposal in the House, the FORTH WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM says: "The President's plan appears to be for simplification of the administration of the Nation's business by placing what would amount to divisional commanders over the various administrative units. The Democratic plan outlined by Mr. Garner is obviously for simplification by means of abolishing a good many of the units. The President's plan would reduce the number of units from an administrative standpoint only, the Democratic plan would reduce the number as reflected on the Federal payroll as well."

The WASHINGTON EVENING STAR points out that "nothing lends itself so easily to political football as reorganization. A plan that necessarily plucks old plums to throw away and plants new trees to bear new plums." The Star also comments: "Everybody recognizes the fact that there is wasteful overlapping of authority and functions within the service; that there are eliminations and combinations and reductions that would save money and increase efficiency. But try to do it! President Hoover in his message of two days ago reminded Congress of the practical difficulties confronting any reorganization scheme."

Fortunately there is no conflict between the President's proposals and the Garner resolution calling for a special committee to survey the Federal machine," says the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, while the NEW ORLEANS TRIBUNE offers the judgment: "Whether the survey results in anything worth mentioning is beside the point. We set little store by it, especially as it probably will not report until some time in 1933."

The NEW YORK SUN makes the comment on the resolution passed by the House: "As the vote of 215 (Continued On Page Five)"

Japanese Open Terrific Drive Near Kiangwan

Japanese Forces Increased By 12,000 Men Open Intensive Campaign

BUILDINGS FIRED BY BIG SHELLS

Ultimatum By Japs To Bomb Trains And Railway Lines Causes Concern

By DIXON HOSTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI Mar. 1.—Japanese forces opened a terrific offensive from Chapei to Kiangwan today as 12,000 more troops from Japan landed on Chinese soil.

The drive, begun shortly after 8 a. m. and still under way many hours later, was thought to be the forerunner of a still greater attack with which the Japanese hope to carry out their purpose of pushing the Chinese nineteenth route army 20 kilometers (12.4 miles) from the International settlement boundaries.

New Fires Started

Japan's great guns in Hongkew Park roared steadily as shells were sent into the Chinese lines all along the front, starting new fires in Chapei and threatening to have driven back the Chinese almost to Tachang, one of the important objectives of the Japanese Kiangwan sector campaign.

Japanese planes aided the attack, furiously bombing nearly all Chinese positions. The infantry was reported to have followed the artillery and air bombardment in the Kiangwan-Tachang zone and advanced to a point five and a half miles inland from the Whangpoo river banks.

Reinforcements Arrive

The reinforcements which landed were the 11th division, which disembarked from transports at Chilingou, on the Yangtze river north of Lihou and 25 miles north of Shanghai. These new men were expected to be sent into the lines as soon as possible.

More troops were expected to be landed at this spot, apparently safe from Chinese fire. Observers had wondered where the Japanese would land the 25,000 new men known to have been enroute to the Shanghai fighting area.

Americans Warned

Much concerned over the Japanese ultimatum declaring they would bomb all trains and railway lines leading into Shanghai United States consul-general Edwin S. Cunningham this afternoon warned all Americans to stay off trains after tomorrow.

Cunningham delivered his warning in a radio address. Foreign circles in general were indignant over the Japanese ultimatum, fearing Shanghai's food supply would be seriously affected.

Economy is going to be good politics in an election year, to be sure, but many members of Congress in both parties must be convinced by this time that economical and efficient operation of the country's business is more than a matter of political strategy." The BOSTON TRANSCRIPT declares: "The plan adopted should originate from the most competent source. We doubt if that source is a political Congress."

Brakes Applied In Roosevelt's National Drive

Alfred E. Smith And John N. Garner, Must Be Considered Potential

ROOSEVELT MEN PLAINLY WORRIED

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Franklin D. Roosevelt's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, which up to a month ago was spreading with something like prairie fire rapidity, has been checked on a number of fronts.

Instead of being able to maintain their offensive, supporters of the New York governor have been forced into a defensive role in some widely separate sections of the country where they had anticipated little difficulty in corraling delegates.

Brakes Applied.

This applies particularly to New England, where friends of Alfred E. Smith are busy in his behalf, and to some sections of the south and west where the movement for Speaker John N. Garner has attained a momentum that has both surprised and alarmed the Roosevelt lieutenants.

There is no question but that the New York governor is still far in the lead in the number of convention delegates in sight, but there is also no question but that the brakes have been applied to his progress in no uncertain way.

Test Is Looming.

A week from today in New Hampshire the candidacies of Roosevelt and Smith meet head-on in the first primary test. The outcome is awaited with intense interest by Democratic leaders in ashington. A month ago it appeared Roosevelt would have the New Hampshire delegation by default. Smith's announcement that he was willing to be drafted for re-nomination changed all that, and instead of easy victory the Roosevelt people now have a real fight on their hands.

Vermont presents about the same picture as New Hampshire, and in varying degree so do the other New England states, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine and Rhode Island. Throughout New England, the Smith forces are active and are carrying the war to the Roosevelt people.

Signs of Defection.

In the south, where the Roosevelt strength has been greatest, where his managers have confidently expected 100 per cent delegations, there are also appearing signs of defection.

A typical example was furnished yesterday in Alabama, where there had been little thought of other than Roosevelt defection. Rep. John McDuffie, Democratic whip of the house of representatives, announced for Garner. While McDuffie, of course, does not control the Alabama delegation he is not without considerable influence in his district and state, and it is known that his endorsement of the Texas waiting policy where the Garner candidacy is concerned, while pushing the candidacy of Smith, whom few believe can or will be nominated at Chicago. The acquisitions to the Garner candidacy are coming from Roosevelt territory in the south and west.

No Tammany War.

Democratic leaders today were inclined to attach little significance to Gov. Roosevelt's dealing with what is commonly called "The Tammany mess." Roosevelt removed Sheriff Tom Farley, but he appointed yesterday a Tammany leader, John E. Sheehy, to succeed him. Sheehy was one of the two men endorsed by John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, so it was a Tammany appointment. This about even the matter up, according to opinions expressed here today.

But it also indicates incidentally, that Gov. Roosevelt is not "going to war" with Tammany.

Big Contracts Given National Radiator Lately

New Type Of Heating Is Adopted For Marshall Field Building In Chicago

ALSO GET CONTRACT FOR ST. LOUIS JOB

Employees of the National Radiator Company at Johnstown will shortly start work on an order for 120,000 feet of aero cast-iron convectors for what is to be Chicago's largest office building, Charles L. Clouse, general sales manager of the National Radiator Company announced recently.

While the order will not affect the operations of the local plant, the news of the contract received by the National Radiator Company will be pleasing news to local stockholders and those interested in the company.

The National Radiator Company has also started shipment of the first of 25 cars of aero convectors for the Principia College, near St. Louis, where a large group of buildings is being erected by the Christian Science Foundation to cost approximately $3,000,000.

The new structure to be erected by the trustees of the Marshall Field estate in Chicago is to be 42 stories in height, including a 19-story tower, with a total height of 535 feet, and a floor area of 1,400,000 feet.

The building will be the first in Chicago to be heated entirely by aero convectors, a new departure in heating. The aero convectors to be used throughout will be installed in metal enclosures with a bak-on enamel finish grained to match the adjoining cabinet work.

and built in flush with the walls so that there will be no projections. These convectors will be made at the Johnstown plant, and the total equipment when completed, will fill 20 railroad cars.

The average home requires 500 feet of radiation, of the type to be installed in the Marshall Field Building, so that the new structure would use the same amount necessary to heat 250 homes, or a fair sized village.

The aero convector adopted for use in the structure is the first cast-iron heating unit developed to heat solely by convection, that is, depending on the creation of air circulation instead of mere radiation. The product was developed in the National Research Laboratories, which was a pioneer in this field by the National company.

The fact that National aero convectors have been selected by the nationally known architectural firm of Graham, Anderson, Probst, and White, after thorough study of all types in a keenly competitive field, is striking evidence of how this new type of heating unit is winning its way throughout the United States.

Naval Ships Are Ordered To Games On Pacific Coast

War Games And Problems Will Be Worked Out By Almost Total Naval Strength

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Virtually all of the American naval vessels in active service in eastern waters were ordered Monday to proceed to the west coast for ostensible maneuver problems.

Nine submarines at New London; the training ship Wyoming and eight vessels of the fleet base force at Guantanamo; about 60 ships such as mine sweepers, tugs and small miscellaneous craft assigned the various naval districts; and the three battleships undergoing modernization, the New Mexico, at Philadelphia, and the Mississippi and Idaho at Norfolk.

Fascist Threat Is Quelled By Finnish Troops

Revolt Is Short Lived And Fascists Are Forced Back From Helsinki

LEADERS FLEE IN FACE OF ARREST

(International News Service)
HELSINKI, Finland, Mar. 1.—The Fascist revolt aimed at obtaining the resignation of the entire government appeared definitely broken today when government troops forced a general retreat of rebel armed forces from their two main camps.
While troops used force of arms the cabinet met and proclaimed a ban on all political meetings in Finland and authorized military control of postal and other communications in Nyland and other districts affected.
The government troops surrounded the Tavastehus headquarters with the intention of arresting four leaders of the Lappe (Fascist) organization, but found they had fled to the north of Finland.
Two of the four were the chief backers of the revolt, General Wallenius, former chief of staff of the Finnish army, and Vihtori Kosola, fanatical hater of Communism and leader of the Lappe government.
At Mantsala, 50 miles away, where the Fascists made the most serious threat on the capital with an army of 5,000 armed men, troops forced a general retreat.

Broker-Weather Prophet Bets Year's Cold Is Over

CHICAGO, Mar. 1.—John F. Barrett, a grain broker, who also offers weather bets with no takers, has a "sure thing" for spring. It is: "There won't be another really cold day."
The man who took $1250 from his fellow members of the Chicago Board of Trade by wagering that the winter of 1931 would be devoid of zero weather expected no takers when he made his latest prediction today. His offer was forecasted last December when he forecast that the mercury would not reach zero more than twice this winter.
Even the federal forecaster turned him down, apparently proving his own astuteness, for there was no zero weather at all.

Last September the amateur "prophet" ventured to say there would be no killing frost before December. Again, he was right.

Merchants Happy, Get Big Orders, But Only In Fun

Merchants And Salesmen Of Chester, Pa., Cause Arrest Of Jesse Hamburg

(International News Service)
CHESTER, Pa., Mar. 1.—The central figures of a one-man movement to bring back prosperity was under arrest here today.
The man, according to police, is Jesse Hamburg, where he lived before he tried to give Chester's industrial wheels a little stimulus could not be learned.

Hamburg, police said, inaugurated his campaign last week with the purchase of $3,000 worth of house furnishings. Then he asked a policeman where he could buy a good truck. The patrolman led him to a salesman who had no trouble in disposing of a $5,000 vehicle. The acquisition of a tractor, groceries and clothing marked the close of the campaign.

Behind him, Hamburg left a long line of happy merchants, gleeful in anticipation of payment yesterday.
Yesterday came, but Hamburg didn't. Disappointed salesmen notified police a search was started. He could not be located at any of the better hotels.

Finally, a patrolman found him enjoying a free feed in a charity mission.

Dope Peddler Seeking Bail

Alleged Head Of Narcotic Ring At Erie Trying To Raise $5,000 Bail

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Mar. 1.—Charles McKeehan, 49, alleged head of a huge narcotic ring, today was attempting to raise $5,000 bond under which he was held in the county jail by U. S. Commissioner Enoch Miller on a charge of violating the Harrison Federal Narcotic Act.

McKeehan, Erie taxi line operator, was alleged to have sold two packages of narcotics to a woman federal operative. It was charged further that he had boasted of having smuggled nearly a half million dollars worth of dope into the country in the last few years.
Federal authorities were reported seeking four other persons in connection with operations of the ring.

May Close School, Result Of Epidemic

(International News Service)

Weekly Health Talk

"These days a great deal is heard and read about the so-called Gospel of Health. And up to a certain point this subject is excellent. The fact that, by and large, the body demands adherence to the fundamental laws of nature to achieve its best can not be over-emphasized. However, the thing to be avoided in this connection is immorality," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.
"For example, a case recently was noted of a man who was so imbued with the health gospel that he bound himself to a rigid regimen of diet, exercise, rest, play and work. Willy-nilly, nothing could interfere with his caloric, his vitamins, the four-mile daily walk or in lieu thereof a game of golf, his eight hours sleep each night (an excellent idea, by the way) and his work by the clock. In short, he had himself reduced to a boring automaton.
"While it is true that he was in good physical condition, and perhaps better than at least some of his friends, the fact remains that his great belief in his supposed super-self-generated vitality led him to attempt to fight off an abdominal pain through setting-up exercises. Which however did not save his life, as acute appendicitis respects only early diagnosis and prompt surgery.

"It follows that living by schedule and according to rigid mathematical calculations may not only be a nuisance, but when carried to an egotistical extreme may even be fatal. The lesson is plain. The human body is an exceedingly flexible proposition. In reality it is very tough. If it had been otherwise, many oldsters of today would long ago have passed on. Which suggests that the average individual is not required to indulge in a spartan program to achieve health and maintain it. The basic law in bodily health, as in everything else, is ordinary common sense, which spells moderation in all things. A reasonable attitude toward food, rest, work and play is one thing, but an absurd fanaticism is quite another. Vigor and vitality will be served better by a rational approach rather than by the unbending rules of the extrem-

Declares Japs Will Not Leave Shanghai Area

Minister Of War Asserts Such A Program Impossible For Japan

SAYS CHINESE HAVE BROKEN PROMISES

Peace Negotiations Are Being Continued But Success Is Doubtful

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Mar. 1.—"It is impossible for the Japanese to suspend military operations in Shanghai despite the armistice negotiations underway in Shanghai and Geneva," Minister of War Sadao Araki declared today.
Shortly before the war minister made this declaration the foreign office had indicated there was no hope for immediate results from the present peace attempts, declaring that simultaneous withdrawal of Chinese and Japanese armies from Shanghai would not be considered.

Given Instructions
Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese Minister to China, was given further instructions as to what Japan wanted so that he could carry the true negotiations further.
"The Chinese have broken past promises," Araki said, "and might use the truce to consolidate their military positions, a move which would require more troops from Japan."

"Diplomatic negotiations should parallel military actions, when the Chinese withdraw in compliance to our ultimatum, we will withdraw. We will not do it simultaneously."
"Municipal police will guard the proposed neutral zone or else troops of third parties."

Chinese Must Withdraw
"Our army will not retire until the Chinese Nineteenth Route Army has been annihilated or withdrawn." These emphatic words from the war minister appeared to be those of the foreign office, which seemed to have little to do but accept the war parties' terms.

It was believed Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa had been given full instructions to relay to Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese Minister to China, pointing out the lines along which Japan would consider peace. The foreign office indicated it was impossible to suspend the drive as long as the army intended to push back the Chinese 20 kilometers from the settlement boundaries.

League Observers Hear That Japan Needs Manchuria

Manchuria Is Japan's "Life Line" Premier Tells League Commission

COUNTRY VITAL TO JAPAN'S GOOD

(International News Service) TOKYO, Mar. 1.—Manchuria is Japan's "lifeline," Premier Inukai told the League of Nations Manchurian commission at a luncheon here today.

Politically, socially and economically, Manchuria is vital to Japan's development, the premier declared, asking the members of the commission to keep this fact paramount in their minds in the course of their investigation.

History repeats "Japan's history," the premier said, "has demonstrated that intimate relations bind this country with Manchuria."

"You must take this into consideration, else it is impossible to grasp the origin of our conflict with China."

Representatives of Emperor Hirohito, members of the Japanese cabinet, leading bankers and chamber of commerce officials attended the luncheon.

Pledge Cooperation Inukai declared what he termed China's "indiscriminate anti-foreign agitation and willful infringement of the powers' treaties."

He placed Japan's unreserved confidence in the ability of the commission to investigate the Chinese situation thoroughly and impartially, and asked them to direct their efforts toward restoration of normal relations between Japan and China. He pledged the Japanese government's cooperation in tackling this "gigantic task."

Corned Beef Not For Italians, And Anthony Walks Out

Italian Husband Of Irish Girl Is Angered And Leaves For Good

(International News Service) TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 1.—Jack Spratt could eat no fat and his wife could eat no lean, but their case was not nearly as bad as that of Anthony Aprea who couldn't eat corn beef and his wife who hated spaghetti.

Anthony and Agnes Kathleen Donnelly were married on Sept. 27, 1928 and the Italian relatives of Anthony and the Irish relatives of Agnes shook their heads. It was not in the stars that such a union should end happily.

Now Agnes was a great lover of corn beef and cabbage and her table groaned with the weight of it nearly every night. At first Anthony would smile wily and make an effort to eat the Irish dish, but often afterwards he would sneak down to a restaurant to inhale a bowl of ziti, a dish of spaghetti or a portion of antipasto.

About three weeks after the wedding he came in to dinner and there was the inevitable corn beef and cabbage.

"What," he screamed losing his temper for the first time, "Irish turkey again? I'm fed up on this and I'm through."

He angrily threw his clothes into a bag and walked out of the door and out of Agnes' life. She has never seen him to this day and today in the Chancery Court, Special Master Roy F. Anthony recommended that Agnes be granted a divorce.

Treasury Balance Shows Decrease

State Treasury Balance Today Is $4,000,000 Short Of February 1

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Mar. 1.—The State treasury today had a balance in all funds of $71,922,886. Today's balance was $4,000,000 less than that at the beginning of February but only $1,000,000 less than that on the same day last year.

The motor fund balance today carried $28,553,447, or more than twice that of one year ago.

The general fund balance was $34,473,568, about $14,000,000 less than on the corresponding date last year.

Total receipts of the State treasury during February were $14,529,763, and payments were $18,223,697.

John Brogan, projectionist for the Capitol Theatre, said today that the statement in the News last night that he was in the theatre at 6:23 Sunday night, was a mistake. He says that in his statement he meant that he was in the theatre on Saturday night at 6:23 o'clock, as that was the time that he was relieved from duty. "I was not in the theatre on Sunday," he said this afternoon.

JAPAN'S MILITARY PRESTIGE HAS SUSTAINED HARD BLOW

(International News Service) MOSCOW, Mar. 1.—The campaign in Shanghai "has shattered the legend of the Japanese army's invincibility."

This was the declaration made by an anonymous writer in the Soviet army newspaper Red Star today. While the article was signed merely with the letter "N," probably signifying Nemo, observers agreed that the technical military knowledge displayed in the story made it obvious that it was the work of an experienced army officer.

The writer does not predict the eventual outcome of the Shanghai battle, but declares that the operations thus far have proved conclusively that the Japanese army is not the unbeatable machine which for years it has been reputed to be.

Soviet military officials have watched with undisguised interest Japanese military operations in Manchuria and frequent disparaging comments have been heard. Appearance of the destructive criticism in the official army newspaper is tantamount to an official declaration from the Kremlin that Soviet Russia believes it has nothing to fear from Japan.

May Use Money To Widen Street

May Use $69,000 To Make Permanent Improvement Here

If this decision is decided upon, widening will start this year. The contract for the work must be made before June 1, 1933. The money has been allotted the city for improvement of state highway continuations here.

If the city can use the money for street widening it will prove a benefit to traffic conditions in East Washington street.

Dr. Clendening Debates Bolting Versus Chewing Methods Of Eating Food

How Mashing And Splitting Meal With Teeth Aids Digestive Work Of Powerful Stomach Muscles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"He bolts his food." The dread-ful doom is passed and the supposition is that the poor victim is condemned to a life of dyspepsia and malnutrition.

To spread the gospel of mastication was the life work of a gentleman of the last generation, Mr. Horace Fletcher. His book, "The ABC of Nutrition" was widely popular and went through several editions. His name even achieved the distinction of becoming a verb—to fletcherize.

He ascribed his own good health to the habit of chewing his food so thoroughly that it was reduced to a pulpy mass. It should be chewed until it is impossible to resist the impulse to swallow it. He even advocated chewing soup.

The results were, according to Dr. Fletcher, to preserve him in very ruddy health. He was delivered from an agonizing indigestion which marked his youth, when he bolted food. Constipation left him.

Most unfortunately for the establishment of his ideas, Mr. Fletcher died at a comparatively early age, 59. This is a disturbing habit of the advocates of health systems.

There is, of course, much truth in the dictum that food should be thoroughly chewed, but not enough to make it the keystone of a system.

The only digestion that is accomplished in the mouth is that of starches from the action of the salivary glands. The action is very rapid and powerful as you know when you see how fast a piece of bread or cracker turns sweet in your mouth. If the saliva is thoroughly incorporated in the starchy foods digestion will go on some time in the stomach, although the acid of the stomach tends to stop salivary digestion.

The mashing and splitting of foods by the teeth is a distinct aid to digestion, of course. Meat fibers, if split up, will undergo much more rapid and thorough digestion in the stomach. Nuts, if they are to be digested at all, must be completely reduced to pulp by the teeth.

The only digestion that goes on in the stomach is the digestion of proteins by the action of pepsin. Another preparatory digestive act is the curdling of milk by the stomach digestive juice, rennin.

But the stomach is a marvelous preparatory organ for intestinal digestion. It churns and mixes the food with its powerful muscles.

"The whole tendency of gastric digestion" writes Rehfuss, "is to translate a mass of heterogeneous substances into a more or less homogeneous mass."

Thus the bolter of food has to depend upon his stomach and probably the bolter's stomach has learned to do the work imposed on it so that his nutrition does not suffer as much as for his sins it should.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

MRS. J. A. C. "Would you please write something on botulism poisoning in food. How can one detect it and does the food have a bad taste? Will boiling vegetables for fifteen minutes kill any poison should it be present in the vegetables?"

Answer: Botulism is poisoning caused by the growth of a germ in food, usually preserved or canned food. The symptoms are due to the poisons (toxins) which the germ has formed in the food rather than to the germ itself. Boiling food for an hour will kill the poison but the germ is very resistant to all attempts at destruction. Special precautions are taken by all canners to prevent contamination of their products with botulism. The food which is contaminated is very difficult to detect by the senses, though there is a musty taste and smell which has been described.

Powers' Petitions Before Court Today

Petitions In Supreme Court Seek Writ Of Error And Supersedeas

(International News Service) CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Mar. 1.—Petitions of Harry F. Powers, condemned "bluebeard" slayer, for a writ of error and supersedeas will be placed before the West Virginia supreme court at Charleston today.

J. Edgar Law, Powers' attorney, left Monday afternoon for the state capital, bearing the record, affidavits and writs of proceedings in the circuit and appellate courts, comprising 1,200 typewritten pages.

May Hang March 18

Powers was doomed to hang March 18 at Mountsville state prison for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., widow and one of five victims whose bodies were unearthed in Powers' slaughter-garage at Quiet Dell, near here, last August.

A latent note of ironic humor was struck Monday with receipt at the county jail here of a matrimonial agency catalogue addressed to "Cornelius O. Pierson", one of several aliases used by Powers. The catalogue came from the Bona Fide Club of Kansas City, Mo., and bore the motto:

"Don't be single and sorry."

Electric Cooler Survives Blaze

On exhibition in the window of the Pennsylvania Power Company is an electric water cooler, which went through the Capitol Theater blaze without damage to its mechanism.

The cooler had been sold to the Capitol Theater by the Pennsylvania Power Company, and when it was noticed lying in the cellar, it was decided to bring it out of the ruins to determine what damage had been done to it. The connecting cord had been burned off, but when a new cord was inserted, it was found to function perfectly.

The heat had burned the enamel off the outside of the cooler and it looked rather the worse for the experience it had gone through, but aside from its appearance was in good condition. In addition to being subjected to the intense heat of the fire, it had dropped fifteen feet into the basement.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds it is important to soothe the inflamed membrane, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble. For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of cressonite, in a palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

The Lux Way to save the ELASTICITY that makes stockings wear and fit

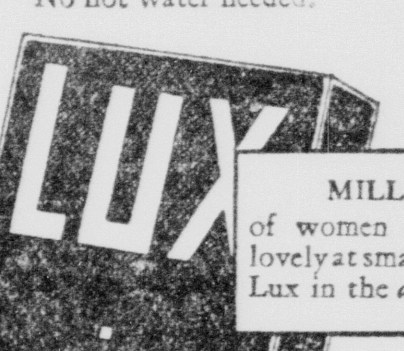

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity. With Lux there is no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens silk threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Don't use too-warm water—it fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

MILLIONS of women keep hands lovely at small cost with Lux in the dishpan.

Why blame stockings when YOU may be at fault?

Are you washing away the ELASTICITY that makes stockings wear?

"ANOTHER PAIR GONE!"—but don't blame the stockings. Do you know YOU may have caused those costly runs?

New stockings give under strain—stretch and spring right back again—because they are elastic.

But if you wash away the elasticity, the lifeless threads, instead of giving, break. The slightest little strain—then a wretched run!

With Lux, you preserve this precious elasticity. That is why this easy way of washing makes even your sheerest, loveliest stockings wear and WEAR.

Legion Employed Campaign Has Put 117,535 At Work

Alabama Reports 12,282 Men Are Put Back To Work, Result Of Drive

MUCH PROGRESS IS REPORTED

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—Alabama, reporting the state had put 12,282 persons back to work, today helped swell the grand total of jobs supplied through the united action against unemployment campaign to 117,535.

The largest number of communities heard from since the start of the drive sponsored by the American Legion, the legion auxiliary, the American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers reported activities for the day.

In all, 153 communities in 42 states indicated progress. Michigan and Wisconsin tied in the number of reporting communities with 11 each, although in the former only 323 jobs were reported as compared with 905 in the latter.

Connecticut, where 1,511 men and women were into gainful occupations ranked second among the states in the day's report.

New York state remained third in the total number of wage earners put to work since the drive began, reporting only six new jobs for idle persons.

Minnesota still led the states with 15,350 placed at work, while Wisconsin stayed second with 12,861.

Chicago Widow Is Found Guilty Of Poisoning Nephew

Widow Faces Fourteen-Year Sentence For Poisoning Of Young Nephew

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Mar. 1.—Pronounced guilty of killing her 17-year-old nephew by arsenic poisoning in order to collect insurance money, Mrs. Margaret Summers, middle-aged widow, today faced a term of 14 years in the state penitentiary.

But her dread of prison was mitigated by a sense of relief that the ordeal of her murder trial had ended. "Thank God, it is over," was the widow's only comment early today as she was led back to her county jail cell from the courtroom of Judge Walter T. Stanton where at midnight a jury declared her guilty of the murder of Thomas Meyer.

The state accused the woman of causing young Meyer's slow death by administering to the youth arsenic from fly paper. Evidence was introduced to show that Mrs. Summers had taken out eight insurance policies on her nephew.

Should Reorganize High School Courses

Dr. Ben Graham Says Higher Mathematics Too Difficult For Many Pupils

Following a debate in Pittsburgh held by the National Council of Mathematics teachers, Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools and formerly superintendent of the New Castle Schools declared that twenty per cent of high school students are not mentally equipped for the study of mathematics higher than arithmetic.

In his rather unusual statement, Dr. Graham said: "It is our duty to reorganize high school courses to give students with limited abilities effective use of what they have learned instead of taking them on into algebra and higher mathematics for which they are not mentally equipped. Lack of employment is sending children who are by-products of a machine age to school to compete with college preparations, art and commercial types."

"Children not qualified to meet high school graduation requirements should receive a certificate instead of a diploma. Give them a succession of courses based upon their plane of ability. If they are pushed beyond their capacity to learn, they become a drag on themselves, on the class and on the teacher."

Observations In 7th Ward

Does a dog get whooping cough? Mebbe yes, mebbe no. But there are those who have heard "Peanuts," an Ashland avenue dog, who will declare that he has the same whoop as has his little master. Both "Peanuts" and his master are getting better now.

A large crowd from here visited the remains of the Capitol theater Monday. Seventh ward people were numbered in the onlookers during the fire the night before. Blaine Bumbaugh and R. G. Clark, members of the local fire department, were there although they were not on duty that night.

Several local people were in the Mission building alongside the burning building when the theater wall collapsed. The fire-escape on the Mission building was the only part damaged by the cave-in.

Herman Alexander, of West Cherry street, was able to remove some of the merchandise from his radio store, located right alongside of the burning theater, but quite a number of tools, etc., were damaged. The telephone in the radio store was one of the only two lines interrupted by the disaster.

Youth Sentenced To Jail Monday

Kenneth L. Double, of the Harlanburg road, against whom an information was filed with Alderman H. G. Coates on February 18, was sentenced Monday.

Double was arrested by State Highway Patrolman Stoores of the New Castle barracks, while driving an automobile on Montgomery avenue. He was charged with driving without an operator's license, alleged to be using his father's license.

He pled guilty at the hearing and a fine of $50 and costs was imposed. Unable to pay the fine the defendant was sentenced to five days in jail.

Special Message From President Urges Reforms

Hoover In Special Message To Congress Advocates Judicial Reforms

TWO-YEAR STUDY BRINGS CHANGES

Chief Recommendation Is For Thorough Revision Of Bankruptcy Act

By GEORGE E. DUNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—In an annual special message to congress today President Hoover urged various reforms in the judicial and law-enforcement machinery, based on a two-year study by the Department of Justice.

The executive's chief recommendation was for thorough revision of the bankruptcy act which, he said, "has failed in its purpose."

Other proposals were: Relief of federal court docket congestion through creation of additional judgeships, as recommended by the judicial conference.

Uniform Rules
Authorization of the supreme court of the United States to prescribe uniform rules of practice and procedure for all district courts and circuit courts of appeal in dealing with appeals in criminal cases. The president noted that convicted persons were enjoying liberty for unduly long periods under the present system.

Legislation to permit accused persons to waive the requirement of indictment by grand jury when they admit their guilt—this is the interest both of economy and speeding justice.

Grand Jury Charge
Amendment of existing law so that belated discovery of a single ineligible juror on a grand jury shall not invalidate the jury's findings. Mr. Hoover suggested that the vote of 12 eligible jurors should make a return binding.

A return to the state authorities of all future prosecution of juvenile delinquents.

Modification of existing law to make corporations liable in the states in which they carry on business, irrespective of where they were organized.

Conservation Relieved
The president found that improvement has been made during the last year in relieving court congestion, "yet despite every effort there is still undue congestion in a number of districts." He cited numerous statistics to this end.

Criminal cases commenced have increased from 1929 to 1931, but the number of pending cases shows a decrease from 30,400 at the end of 1928 to 27,900 at the end of 1931, his message stated. In 1931 alone, 4,000 more criminal cases were disposed of than commenced, showing a definite gain in this field.

ROBBERS OVERLOOK POSTOFFICE FUNDS

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Mar. 1.—Two armed bandits took $80 cash from John Stipanovich, Harwick postmaster early today, but overlooked a large sum of money Stipanovich said was locked in the post-office safe. The loot was taken from the register in Stipanovich's store, partitioned off from the postoffice and from one of his pockets.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up for you or mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Compensation For Barn Destroyed By Fire Being Sought

BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 1.—Compensation for a barn burned while being used as a storeroom by the defendant in the fall of 1929, is sought in a trespass suit that went to trial before visiting Judge R. L. Hildebrand of New Castle, this morning.

Mrs. Emeline Scheidehammer of Portersville is the plaintiff, and H. W. Baldwin, an Ohio road contractor, the defendant.

Baldwin had a contract in connection with the building of the Butler-New Castle road, and rented Mrs. Scheidehammer's barn for storing his machinery. Some of his men were making repairs to a tractor, when one of them proceeded to light a cigar. The flames ignited fumes caused by the gasoline with which the men were working, and instantly the entire interior of the barn was ablaze, according to witnesses, and the men had to flee for their lives. The barn was destroyed, and the owner brought suit to recover for her loss.

Chicken Wrecks Auto, Man Hurt

(International News Service)

SUNBURY, Pa., Mar. 1.—Lewis Fox of Williamsport has a keen personal interest in why chickens cross the road after having come within an ace of losing an eye through a hen's wanderings.

Fox was driving on the Susquehanna Trail north of Selinsgrove when a chicken suddenly ran into the path of his car and flew against the windshield, shattering it and showering him with glass. One of the broken particles cut Fox's left eye.

The Right Way to Reduce

If you are over-fat, do what doctors the world over are doing. They supply a lacking gland secretion which helps turn food to energy, rather than fat. The results are seen everywhere. Without starvation, multitudes of people have gained new beauty, youth and vim.

That right method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle you see slender, happy people who can tell you the results.

Go do what they did. Ask your druggist for Marmola. A book in the box will tell you all about it. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, and vim comes back. Start Marmola now.

Billy Sunday Here Wednesday Night

BILLY SUNDAY

Wednesday night is prayer meeting as a regular thing, but not this week in New Castle. Wednesday evening, March 2, will see few prayer meetings in New Castle, most of the churches canceling them to permit their parishioners to attend the mass meeting in the Cathedral to be addressed by Billy Sunday.

There is only one Billy Sunday. Since 1891 when as a National league baseball player he was converted in Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago, he has been burning up energy in a continual fight against sin.

Crowd Expected.
In 1910 Billy Sunday was in New Castle and conducted a ten weeks' series of meetings in a tabernacle which was built for the occasion.

Without any question it was the greatest religious revival New Castle has ever seen.

This time Billy Sunday comes to New Castle alone. He comes under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league, taking as his title "Booze, Pool and Out." Any one who heard Billy Sunday smashing away at the liquor traffic in 1910 remembers his vigor and vocabulary.

Age has done little but add some new words to the vocabulary, according to reports and his vigor seems to be as limitless as it was then. The meeting starts at 8 o'clock and the probabilities are that the Cathedral will be packed to the walls.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morrison of Freeport, Ohio, having been called home by the illness and death of the latter's father, Rev. T. A. McElwain are spending a few days with Miss Jane McElwain.

Margaret McHaffey of Calene, visited her cousin Ruth Kelland recently.

Mrs. Ray Hopper of New Castle spent a few days recently with Laura Boggs.

Ruth and Glenn Stickle of Portersville visited at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Stickle Saturday.

Mary Stoner has returned from New York, where she was the guest of her brother, Linn.

Mrs. Harry Wilkeson is visiting her mother, Mrs. Louise Weir in Ellwood.

Mrs. Mary Pryor is spending some time at the home of her daughter Mrs. Harry Houk in New Castle.

The plan was first started in Rochester, N. Y., where it is reported highly successful.

Pershing Club Enjoys Dinner

Close To Hundred Present At First Annual Dinner Held Last Evening

Members of the Pershing Club held their first annual dinner in the Legion Home Association Building last evening, with Major Guy J. Wadlinger as host.

Close to a hundred ex-service men of all wars were present and an enjoyable evening was spent. After the men had stowed away all the sauer kraut and pork and weiners they could hold, an impromptu program was carried out.

With Major Wadlinger presiding, short talks were given by P. O. Elder, William Pitts, Charles H. Young, Ralph M. Campbell, Orville Potter and Richard Richards, all of whom are office holders. Clarence A. Patterson, an outstanding representative of the Democratic party also gave a few remarks, as did Sam Wilson of Beaver county candidate for Congress on the Democratic party. Officers of the Pershing Club also spoke.

The dinner which was in charge of Ernest Trehaner, William Burton, William Fleming, Eliab Munteen, and Johnny McKibben proved quite tasty and was relished by all.

After the dinner the hours were spent in an informal manner. One of the outstanding events of the evening was the induction of P. O. Elder into the Order of Snappers, a World War veteran degree instituted by the New Castle Legionnaires at the Boston convention several years ago, and which has spread to all corners of the United States.

Ellwood High Is Victorious In Closing Game

Take 16-13 Win Over Rochester In Hard Fought Game Last Night

EIGHT MEMBERS PLAY LAST GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 1.—Ellwood High ended its floor season with a victory on its home floor last night when it defeated Rochester High 16-13 in a hard fought game before a fine crowd. Eight members of the local squad played their final game for their "alma mater."

At the opening of rivalries Ellwood started out with a flurry and soon had the visitors under a 4-1 disadvantage. Two fouls by Eddie Zaneiski, Rochester's all W. P. I. A. L. halfback, and a bucket by Brown gave them a 5-4 lead at the close of the initial period.

Given two tries from the charity line at the opening of the second period, Ellwood made the best of one of them and deadlocked the score at 5 all. This was short lived when Barnes made an easy two-pointer after a well timed play. The remainder of the period was devoted to defensive tactics and closed with Ellwood enjoying a 7-5 margin at the half.

The invaders made a strong bid to narrow this margin at the beginning of the third stanza when J. Zaneiski accredited himself with a foul to make the score 7-6 for the locals. Smith and Latiano came to the fore and widened the gap for Ellwood with a bucket apiece. Rochester obtained its next score when Hetzler counted up two free throws. Just before the quarter ended Smith added a foul throw to Ellwood's lead, which made it 12-8 in their favor.

The visitor's made a determined stand in the final stanza and outplayed the locals. But they had started their drive too late and were just short of victory. Had Kasper accuracy from the foul line been better, Rochester would have won. He missed fire on five out of six in the closing chapter. The visitors had a 5-4 advantage at the end of the last quarter. It was fortunate that the locals had obtained a comfortable lead in the previous period. Following his successful foul throw, J. Zaneiski added a two pointer from under the hoops on a fast play which placed them only one point behind.

Kasper missed an opportunity to tie the score with a foul throw after which Smith made a nice shot from the side lines. The place was in an uproar when Smith again made a basket after the tip off from center to give the Lloyd men a safe lead. Rochester's last score came when Grimm and Kasper made a foul apiece to make the final score 16-13.

Last night's game ended the athletic career of eight of the 10 players composing Coach Todd Lloyd's varsity. They are Co-captains Mike Dudick and Bob Kennedy, Tony Latiano, Ed Smith, George Exonoff, Eugene Cavalier, Frank Lasso, and Martin Tomei, who will be lost by graduation. Bob Frew will be the only member lost from the Reserves. He will still have left Tom Barnes who has developed splendidly since the start of the season and Bob Johnson from the varsity. From the Reserves there will be Ray Latiano, Ken Bunnay, Spargo Vanderhill, Dave Bolotin, Jack Zeigler, Don Howells and Don MacDonald.

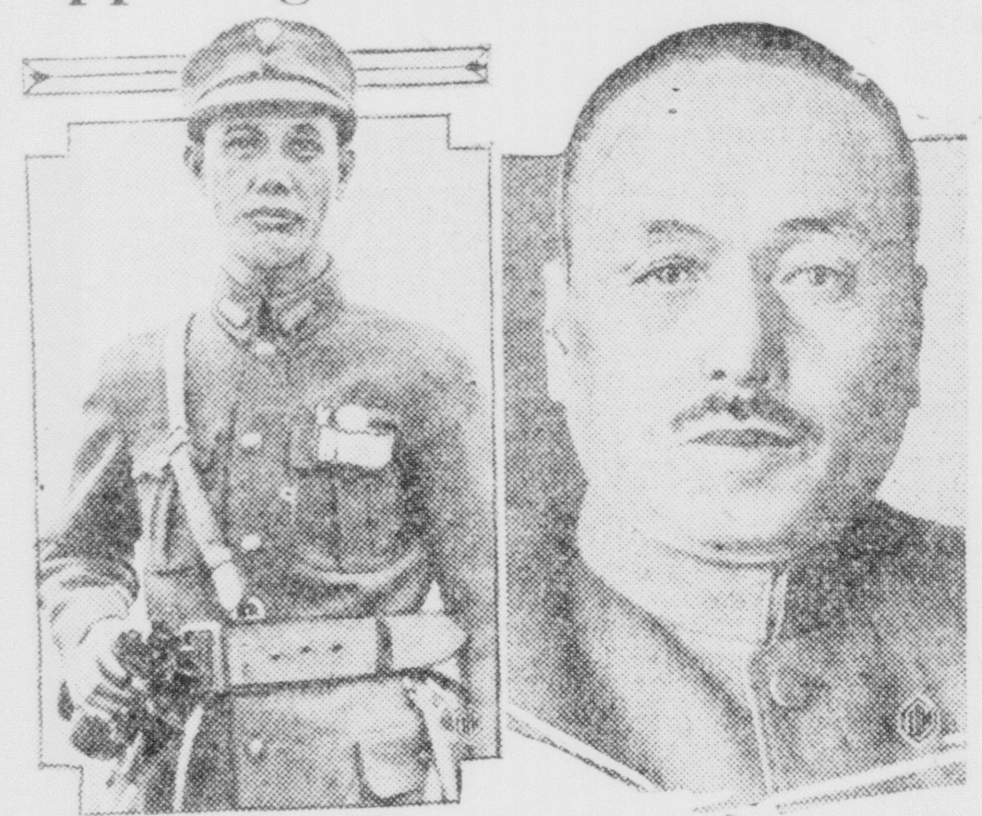

The fine work of Smith and Barnes was the highlights of Monday's game. The former caged four baskets and the latter two. J. Zaneiski was the outstanding performer for the visitors.

The summary: Ellwood 16, Rochester 13. Kennedy c, E. Zaneiski c, Latiano f, Hetzler f, Barnes c, J. Zaneiski c, Dudick c, G. Exonoff c, Brown Smith c, G. Edwards c. Subs: Ellwood—Johnson, Tomei, Lasso, Cavalier, Socoloff, Rochester—Kasper, Grimm, Fowl—Ellwood 2 out of 6, Rochester 9 out of 15. Field goals—Smith 4; Barnes 2; Latiano, J. Zaneiski, Brown. Referee—Richards.

Opposing Leaders at Shanghai

Here are the two principals who will fight out the Sino-Jap difference of opinion at Shanghai to a finish. At the left is General Tsi Ting-kai, commander of the 19th Chinese Route Army, whose defense of the Chapel-Woosung line has carved for him an immortal niche in the eyes of his countrymen. Right is General Yoda, former Japanese Minister of War, who has supplanted General Yoda as commander of the Jap forces in Shanghai. General Shirakawa is regarded as the outstanding military genius of Japan and his assignment to the front is seen as a subtle compliment to the fighting qualities of the Chinese.

Thayers Home From Capitol

Are Told Local Products Will Be Used In Construction Of Ellwood Post Office

A. L. Thayer and son, Lauren Thayer, have returned from Washington, D. C. where they held a consultation last week with the supervising architects in charge of the Federal Post Office work. It was intimated by the department officials that approval of their cabinet sketches for the Ellwood City post office would likely be made shortly. Different phases of the work in connection with the Ellwood City job were discussed. Treasury Department officials commended the local men for the type of design which they had submitted as it will fit in admirably with the plan of the Federal department to use local materials in the construction of the post office buildings wherever possible.

The local architects had specified sandstone in their design which can be procured in the immediate vicinity of Ellwood City. Brick made in the local district will also be used in the project.

They were told by attaches of the Treasury Department that the Government expects to have around 250 new jobs under way by July 1.

While in Washington, they attended the closing sessions of the N. E. A. Convention, to which Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools was a delegate. Dr. Green accompanied Mr. Thayer and son to Washington and returned home with them.

Church Classes Honor M. L. Hazen

Friends And Relatives Celebrate 76th Birthday Anniversary Monday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 1.—Twenty-five members of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church assembled at the home of M. L. Hazen last evening and surprised him on his 76th birthday.

It was one of the grandest evenings in the life of the honor guest. Being surrounded by his many old chums and friends an interesting program of singing, speaking and games was enjoyed. Rev. J. R. Routledge, pastor of the Providence Baptist church, rendered a short appropriate address for the occasion. Greetings from each class of the Sunday school was extended the honor guest, which culminated in having A. E. Connor present a beautiful gift to Mr. Hazen with a few well chosen words.

Delightful refreshments were served later by Mr. Hazen's daughters, Lydia and Carrie, assisted by Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Boyer. The evening came to a conclusion with all joining in prayer led by Rev. S. Dolan.

The local architects had specified sandstone in their design which can be procured in the immediate vicinity of Ellwood City. Brick made in the local district will also be used in the project.

Shelby League Champions Will Meet St. Marys

Two Games Arranged Between Two Teams; First To Take Place In New Castle

Crack Ellwood City Quint Will Endeavor To Upset Strong St. Marys

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 1.—The hopes of many Ellwood City sports fans are at last realized. Announcement came this morning from Chas. Stevenson, manager of sports at the Shelby, that he and Jokey Travers have reached a successful decision on a Hot Mills-St. Marys game.

Two games have been arranged with the famed New Castle machine. The first will take place this Thursday at New Castle and the second at the Shelby club house on the following Tuesday.

This game on Thursday, March 3, will undoubtedly draw a record crowd from Ellwood City, who intend to be present to witness the city's best representative tangle with the highly reputed St. Marys' quintet. The crack Hot Mills team without exception is composed of the greatest players to ever don an Ellwood high uniform. Their two diminutive forwards, Dicky Freinoff and Les Clyde, are a pair of the best in the district. At the center will be Captain Fitzgerald, former all W. P. I. A. L. guard, and the tall and lanky Ben Chambers who can play equally well at center. The tall and husky Johnny Ursu will be at the pivot position and is rated as the best ever turned out under Peck Lee, former Ellwood high coach. A fact that makes the team exceedingly dangerous is that every member does not function properly they obtain points from mid-floor. The team is the greatest scoring aggregation in the city. Ursu and Fitzgerald hold the individual scoring record in the Shelby league and the latter was also a member of last year's Manhattan team, which twice took the measure of the St. Marys' team. Whatever the result of the game, local fans believe that the Hot Mills will give a good account of themselves.

Charles Eunice, sixteen year old Assyrian boy, arrested last night by Officer Budd Fleeger, on being brought before Mayor Charles B. Mayne this morning, stated that he had been in Beaver Falls and on his return, learning that the police were looking for him, had sent his sister to inform the officer where he was.

He stated that he, Isaacs and Barket had actually done the holdup job but that Carbone knew about it before it happened and joined them after it was over. He said all he received was fifty cents.

He was turned over to Assistant County Detective B. J. Rocks, who took him before Alderman L. C. Mantz, where he was charged with highway robbery. The police are seeking the fourth boy, who has been questioned previously, but whose story does not just agree with that of Eunice.

Sheriff Wins In Bankruptcy Case

U. S. Court Holds That He Had Right To Sell Property Of Gaeling

Rule on Sheriff Frank Johnston and the Mahoning Savings and Loan Association, to show cause why they should not be indicted for contempt of court, was dismissed by the United States court at Pittsburgh today, following arguments of the case which were made yesterday by Attorney W. W. Stevenson, representing creditors and Clarence Patterson and Clyde V. Alley, the other side.

The case was one in which Sheriff Johnston had levied upon property belonging to Edward Gaeling, who afterwards went into bankruptcy. After the bankruptcy proceedings had been filed Referee E. M. Underwood notified the sheriff not to proceed with the sale. However the sheriff went ahead and sold the property.

Underwood then had a rule issued on Sheriff Johnston and the Mahoning Savings and Loan Association to show cause why they should not be indicted for contempt. Exceptions were taken to the rule and arguments were made in Pittsburgh on Monday, with the result that the sheriff and the Mahoning Savings and Loan are upheld and the writ discharged.

The ground upon which this ruling was made were that the mortgage, upon which the levy had been made, had been filed more than four months before the levy.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

How To Get The Infant To Take Cod Liver Oil Is Solved By Dr. Myers

Give Few Drops At First, Advises Psychologist, Increasing Amount Until Prescribed Dose Is Taken

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.,
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

A revised free folder, "Sunlight For Babies," issued by the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., gives full direction for sun baths and daily doses of cod liver oil. "During the winter months," it says, "babies need both sun baths and cod liver oil in order to prevent rickets and to enable the bones to develop."

Just to know how much cod liver oil to give your child will be of no value unless you get the cod liver oil into the baby's stomach. Scores of infants whose parents have available the best possible medical advice, don't get cod liver oil just because these parents have not learned how to teach their children to take cod liver oil co-operatively. The problem is so simple that one wonders why it ever should arise; but it does.

When, as the doctor advises, cod liver oil is given from the early months of the child and always given, particularly during winter months, as food, the child cooperates as if he knew no better.

Purchase cod liver oil in small quantities so it may be fresh. Keep it in a cool place. After pouring it from the bottle wipe off the oil carefully so as to prevent it from becoming rancid.

When you begin to give the child cod liver oil make the dose only a few drops. From day to day increase the amount until the prescribed dose is reached. Take ample time to get the child to want to take it, assuming that he will, avoiding any suggestion that the oil is of ugly taste. By and by the baby will like it and may smack his lips with delight on taking it. Some actually beg for it. Most problems arise with children who first are given cod liver oil at two or three years of age or later, or with children who have acquired a dread of cod liver oil on account of bad suggestions from adults or on account of emotional scenes worked up, through unskillful methods by parents to get the child to take it.

Suppose your child is three and you want him to take cod liver oil. Quietly tell him so. Gently present a few drops in a spoon. If he refuses don't turn from persuasion to force, but put the oil away and drop the matter as if you were not concerned at all. After about half an hour, during which interval nothing had been said about the cod liver oil, pour out about a quarter of a teaspoon without the child's seeing it, then with the aid of an assistant put it into the child by force, first quietly announcing to him what you are going to do. Be quick and skillful so as to cause the annoyance to him to be as brief as possible. Make no further comments. On each succeeding day do likewise until he volunteers to take it alone. Gradually increase the dose until the prescribed amount is given.

It may be well to follow a similar technique when you must give medicine to the child, or administer first aid. The most important thing is to have complete self-control yourself and to go at it in as matter-of-fact way as if you were a nurse or doctor.

May Rule in Ankuo

With the proclamation of the new Republic of Ankuo ("Land of Peace") in the conquered province of Manchuria, it is expected that Henry Pu-Yi (above with wife) will become its ruler—subject to the guiding hand of Japan. The flag of the republic is a combination of the five-barred banner of the old Manchu dynasty and the rising sun of the Japanese Empire.

Burgess Dooms Boy's Shanties On River Bank

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., Mar. 1.—No more will New Eagle's youth build shanties on the shores of the Monongahela.

Makeshift shelters which in boyish imagination became pirate dens, secret clubhouses or just plain refuges from a too prosaic material world, are doomed.

Burgess Edward V. Baker of the nearby borough, doomed the present shacks and forbade construction of any new ones.

Reason—the shanties help develop the "gang idea" among boys. Mayor Baker's action followed pleas of guilty to burglary charges by two boys.

But not for long. The packages were prepaid. And detectives collected the "express man."

Life Insurance, the great stabilizer of human welfare, carries on PEACE OF MIND, with which to face the present and plan for the future, never has meant more than it means today. These are trying times. It is difficult to believe that anyone has escaped the effects of a world-wide deflation of values, contraction of enterprise, social change.

That life insurance companies, during the past year, have been able to show an increase of insurance in force is indeed a tribute to the high purpose which these institutions serve. It indicates a growing national consciousness of this reliable form of financial protection.

Life insurance is, in a real sense, an investment in peace of mind, with interest payable in future comfort. It paves the way to education; to replacement of earning power cut off by death; to establishment of credit; to liquidation of indebtedness; to estate creation—to these and other family or business objectives.

Metropolitan Life Insurance policyholders, representing about one-fifth of the populations of United States and Canada, should derive deep satisfaction from the accompanying statements of their Company. It must hearten them to realize how sound their life insurance protection continues to be.

"Auction Singer" Something New

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Mar. 1.—Auction bridge; auction brides—But, it remained for a local man to become Pennsylvania's first "auction singer".

Norbert F. Hohler, 25, has offered himself "body and soul" for ditch-digging, dish-scrubbing, valeting or similar work for five years to anyone who will give him a bed, two meals a day and two years of training for a voice said to have musical promise.

Hohler was on the upgrade to success recently when he lost his job and with it his chance of paying for musical training.

His offer followed.

Nearly all panhandlers now ask for a stake to a meal instead of a cuppa coffee. It's more dignified nowadays to be starving than to be a mocha fiend. I can spot a typical Greenwich Village couple as

Mr. Stout, East, redoubled.

Mr. Brown, South, bid one no trump.

Mr. Wilson, West, passed.

Mr. Phillips bid three no trumps and took the contract.

Westminster Wins Tri-State Floor Title

TITANS SMOTHER BETHANY 63 TO 26

Titan Quintet Continues Sensational Pace In Downing Bison Quintet

Brownlee-Douglas Lead Scorers In Lopsided Game Monday Night

Continuing their sensational play in the Tri-State Conference floor league the Westminster Titans handed the Bethany Bisons a neat 63 to 26 lacing at the Westminster floor Monday night. The victory gave the United Presbyterian undisputed possession of first place in the Tri-State and another fine championship ring can be added to the Titan string.

The Titans have been ailing for the past few weeks and Coach Lawther got out of a sick bed to direct his team against the West Virginians, and despite all, the Titans kept up that dizzy pace they have been setting and tallied sixty-three points. Bethany has failed to win a league game all season, and they didn't even come close last night.

Brownlee-Douglas Star.

Harry "Bud" Brownlee was the big scorer again, his total for the night read eight field goals and a foul for 17 points. Billy Douglas a sub forward was next high scorer with an even dozen points via the medium of five field goals and two fouls. Koehran for a rather sick young man only had seven points while Newton who hasn't been feeling well either had eight points. All told the three subs that Coach Lawther used made seventeen points.

The Titans started out at a rapid pace and led by Brownlee and Koehran and Newton banged away at the hoops for a score of 31 to 13 at the end of the first half. The Bethany Bisons didn't offer much resistance. What little scoring was done by the Knights was done by Funk and Freiberts with seven points apiece, while Giesey at center had five points.

32 Points Second Half.

Just to see if they could do it the Titans hung up thirty-two points in the second half for a total of 63. They tried to make it another 31, but someone got the signals crossed and caged a foul that upset the dope.

The Lawthermen just toyed with the Bisons, once a powerful factor in the Tri-State, but not even a game breeze this year.

With the Tri-State championship tucked away in the furthestmost corner of Old Main or New Main the Titans will go forth to battle a crafty Grove City team March 8 for the final battle of the year, and the Titans want to win this encounter like anything, for one of the record this year was put there by Grove City in the first game of the league season by one-point. Things have not gone so well with the Grovers in the league as their record shows but three victories and four defeats.

Titans Undaunted.

Undaunted by that nightmare at Grove City the Westminster team has stepped along a rather hard road to another title. Coach Lawther says that this year's team is one of his greatest, and anyone who has seen the Titans perform will agree with the popular mentor. They roll up points faster than Japanese pour into Shanghai, and that's fast.

PITT BEATS HARVARD

The Crimson boys gave Pitt a scare, however, by scoring eight points in the last five minutes of play.

Westminster And Duquesne Athletic Councils Ban All Post-Season Games

Athletic Councils of Westminster and Duquesne put the quietus on rumored post-season title games yesterday by actions in banning all after-season affairs with the exception of minor games such as alumni and etc.

There had been considerable agitation in the Tri-State District for a Westminster-Duquesne game at the Pitt-Stadium, Pittsburgh, for charity and consequently to settle the matter of district supremacy, but this game will have to be played in the minds of the fans of both teams.

The councils of both schools were of the opinion that the basketball players have had enough for one year and will wind up with games scheduled for next week.

ONE DAY AN INDIAN DASHED INTO THE CAMP WITH THE NEWS THAT A SMALL FRENCH DETACHMENT UNDER THE SIEUR JUMONVILLE HAD BEEN SENT FROM FORT DUQUESNE AGAINST THE VIRGINIANS AND WAS NOW ENCAMPED ONLY A FEW MILES AWAY.

HASTILY GATHERING A STRONG PARTY, WASHINGTON MARCHED SWIFTLY AND SILENTLY THROUGH THE FOREST, FOLLOWING HIS INDIAN GUIDE, AND MADE A SURPRISE ATTACK ON THE FRENCH CAMP. IN THE FIGHT THAT ENSUED JUMONVILLE WAS KILLED.

AFTER A BRIEF RESISTANCE ALL THE FRENCHMEN WERE MADE PRISONERS.—THIS LITTLE SKIRMISH IN THE REMOTE BACKWOODS LED TO THE LONG AND BITTER STRUGGLE KNOWN AS THE FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR.

Pennsy's Farrell Agent, In Service For 48 Years, Retires To Pulaski Farm

C. C. Rogers, ticket-freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad at Farrell, retired today to his quiet farm near Pulaski for a deserved rest after serving the company for 48 years.

Since March 10, 1884, Mr. Rogers had been an agent.

As was customary at the time Mr. Rogers entered the railroad service, he served as a student clerk without pay until he had mastered telegraphy—then a requisite of station work. He learned at Pulaski under Agent Ellis L. Welch. His first station was Clinton, Lawrence county, now called Hoytdale.

After five years Mr. Rogers was transferred to Lowellville and after several advancements he was made agent at South Sharon, August 15, 1902 when the agency was established due to increasing importance of the steel industries in the district. The honor of the U. S. Steel corporation head, and has grown to one of the largest tonnage producing cities in the valley.

Clinton was a mining settlement, the largest mine was known as the Crawford mine, named for a pioneer capitalist of New Castle. Mr. Rogers recalls this mine was operated by W. L. Scott, President of the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad. L. S. Hoyt was also interested and the name of the town was changed in his honor. A. W. Harrison ran a store and Charles Rogers boarded with him. It was a rough and ready town and the red letter days for these two young men was when the sisters of Mr. Harrison would come down and get them real meals.

Devotion to his job has caused Mr. Rogers to remain a bachelor. Those who know him appreciate his personality. In Farrell if you're a friend of Charles Rogers you can borrow money at the bank, or he will get you out of jail.

Today his friends are congratulating him on attaining his place on the railroad Honor Roll. He will retire to his farm where he resides with two brothers and spend his time raising chickens.

New Castle, Pa., Mar. 1, 1932.
Editor The News,
Dear Sir:

The wagon that was stolen from me was not the wagon I have for a horse to pull. It was a hand wagon that I made to do small jobs with. Chas. Breneman at the Allen Market on North Mill street, started a paper to try and raise enough money to buy another horse for me through donations. Money can be left at Allen's Market or given to me. I have to date fourteen dollars and twenty five cents.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Whether this weather is lamblike or lionlike is still a matter for argument around the office here and we've offered to compromise on something between, say a German police dog. You get the idea, friendly enough, but ready to get tough if the necessity arises.

There's one thing about March. It always picks St. David's on which to appear. You know of course that this is St. David's Day. And that the leek takes precedence over the shamrock for the day.

There will be a lot of tea drunk tonight when they celebrate St. David's Day at the First Congregational church. And a flock of those tasty tea cakes and plenty of singing. St. David's Day without music would be something akin to a roast duck sandwich without the roast duck.

Then next Sunday afternoon there will be a Gymnastic Genu in the First Christian church and in answer to your query as to what a Gymnastic Genu is, it is a field day of singing. People get together and sing for hours just because they like to do it.

Tomorrow night Billy Sunday will be in the batter's box, chopping out some fungees against John Barleycorn. Billy has been hitting against J. B.'s pitching for a good many years and his batting average is still over 300.

Attended a sauer kraut dinner on Monday evening and this was one dinner in which the sauer kraut was done to a turn, and old appetite was on a razor edge. About half an acre of cabbage disappeared before the dessert appeared and this dessert was something new to say the least.

You recall those old track-walker pipes made of clay. The kind that need no retrieving if you dropped them on a sidewalk. These were served as dessert, along with a brand of smoky tobacco that comes in the tidy red tins.

To see fifty or sixty lads sitting around a table smoking clay pipes looked like a convention of all the clay pipe smokers in the western hemisphere.

If cabbage has that certain something known as vitamins, the boys got caught up with their late winter vitaminizing last night. With a load or two extra to last over until spring.

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too."

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at Ecker's Cut Rate, New Castle Drug Co., or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.
